

WithSecure[™] Elements Managed Detection and Response

AI-powered Detection and Response, backed by our experts

24/7 ransomware attack & data breach prevention – delivered by experts with care

20 years of IR experience tells us the cost of a cyber security incident is 70-90% lower if contained within 72 hours of a detection.

This is why having a solution that shortens the time it takes to detect and respond to threats is essential. WithSecure[™] Elements Managed Detection and Response (MDR) is a continuous 24/7 detection and response service.

WithSecure's cyber security experts protect your IT environment by monitoring, investigating, and remediating cyber security attacks across your estate using data collected by WithSecure[™] Elements Endpoint Detection and Response (EDR) agent. MDR for Identities extends the service beyond endpoints. All this gives you access to expert-backed Detection and Response (D&R) capabilities that your in-house team with detection and response tooling may not be able to cover.

We're alert so you can sleep

Get enterprise-grade detection and response capabilities to stop AI-enabled cyber attacks in minutes, instead of hours or days.

The Incident Response service included in WithSecure™ Elements MDR helps to contain and remediate incidents on your behalf, before they have a chance to impact your business.

Research-based threat understanding
Our large team of Threat Researchers and Threat Analysts research new and evolving Tactics, Techniques and Procedures (TTPs) and develop protections based on their potential impact.

Threat data quality
WithSecure™ products are deployed across millions of endpoints in over one hundred thousand businesses. Our end-to-end data and telemetry visibility enables us to confidently make critical decisions during every minute of every day.

Service scale and consistency

We have been providing cyber protection for more than 30 years and delivering MDR services since 2015. Our processes and technology have been optimized to provide consistent, stable services at a scale, even when resilience is tested.

Our European focus

Built and delivered from Europe by default, our MDR service is inherently aligned with EU security and data privacy legislation. You get full regulatory assurance and transparent data handling, wherever you operate.
